Welcome to the Aggie Family!
We encourage students to develop strong problem-solving skills, independence and maturity, but sometimes they need a little additional help.

- Connecting parents to programs to help ensure their student’s success
- Special programs designed just for parents
Our world needs families like yours!

As Aggie Parents, you are as welcome at UC Davis as your student. That is why UC Davis offers the UC Davis Parent and Family Program, which is designed to foster a sense of community among all UC Davis parents. Parents and family members are invited to further their involvement by joining the Aggie Parent and Family Association, which will allow them to gain access to an array of news, events, benefits and information.

Congratulations Men's and Women's Basketball

Congratulations to the UC Davis men's and women's basketball team who both had record-breaking success this season!

The men's basketball team won the Big West Conference championship for the first time in school history, earning a spot in the National Invitation Tournament. (Unfortunately Stanford was victorious in that game with a score of 77-64 against the Aggies.) Including a perfect 14-0 home record and a new Div. I high, this year's
Is Your Student Taking Advantage of UC Davis’ Resources?

by Ken Barnes, Internship and Career Services

Have you ever wondered if your student is taking advantage of everything the university offers to make them a competitive candidate for employment after graduation? There’s no doubt that they are receiving a top-quality education, but what about experiences outside the classroom that make students more well-rounded, help develop leadership skills, and significantly enhance resumes? Below are some resources you can encourage your child to look into.

Internship and Career Center (ICC): an organization that not only assists students in finding internships, but also helps them prepare for their job search. The ICC offers workshops on resume-writing, interviewing, and job-searching; advice on where to find excellent internships, student jobs and careers; and events like career fairs.

Undergraduate Research Center: from scientific experiments to the scholarly analysis of literature, doing research is an ideal way to improve future career prospects. Hands-on experience can help narrow interests and identify aptitudes. If your student is sure of their goals, it can provide him or her with skills that will be valued by employers and allow them to interact more closely with faculty mentors.
